

Good Morning Board: Grade 5, Cluster 5, Module 4

The Writing Academy | Color Coding the Exemplar and Controlling the Whole Paper

Day	GRADUATE Stage	Yesterday We Learned	Today We Will...	Passage(s)	Supplies	Quick Think	Thinking Level
1	Gather + Reveal	Last module, we taught the R1, R2, R3 conclusion and wrote a final complete response.	Gather the paired-passage focus. Discover the HABIT: every sentence has a job. Use one detail from each passage to model.	"A Difficult Compromise" and "A Visit to the Workshop"	Passage, Pencil, Highlighter	What does it mean for every sentence in a response to have a job?	Foundational
2	Attempt	We gathered the paired-passage focus and discovered that every sentence in a response has a specific job.	Color code an exemplar response: thesis (central idea) green, reasons green, evidence yellow, explanation red/pink, significance blue.	"A Difficult Compromise" and "A Visit to the Workshop"	Passage, Pencil, Colored pencils	What does color coding reveal about a response that just reading it does not?	Emergent
3	Discuss + Use	We color coded an exemplar response and saw how each sentence serves a specific role.	Write an independent paired-passage response. Color code the draft to verify every part is doing its job.	"A Difficult Compromise" and "A Visit to the Workshop"	Passage, Pencil, Workbook, Colored pencils	What should you do when color coding reveals a section of your draft with no color?	Visible
4	Award + Target	We wrote independent responses and used color coding to check that every part does its job.	Award a color-coding strength. Revise any section where the color coding reveals a missing or weak part.	"A Difficult Compromise" and "A Visit to the Workshop"	Passage, Pencil, Workbook, Colored pencils	Which color (role) was hardest to find in your own writing, and what will you add?	Independent
5	Educate + Explain	We awarded color-coding strengths and revised sections where a role was missing or weak.	Teach the color-coding self-check to a partner. Write the final whole-paper response and answer the overarching question.	"A Difficult Compromise" and "A Visit to the Workshop"	Passage, Pencil, Workbook, Colored pencils, Exit ticket	How will the color-coding habit help you control your writing in future clusters?	Reflective
