

EXACT TEKS WORDING (FROM TEA)

“revise drafts to improve sentence structure and word choice by adding, deleting, combining, and rearranging ideas for coherence and clarity”

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN TO ME?

Authors choose each word on purpose to say exactly what they mean.

When I notice a strong word, I ask what it shows and why the author chose it.

Choosing precise words makes my own writing clear and interesting.

THIS WEEK'S FOCUS

Specific Nouns

from “Benjamin Franklin and Electricity”

A specific noun names exactly which person, place, thing, or idea, instead of a general word like thing or place.

This deck teaches word choice across the five RPLD thinking levels:

NOTICE → CHOOSE → SHOW → OWN → DEFEND.

WORD CHOICE IN THE READING

“After studying the issue, Franklin invented the lightning rod.” (word: lightning rod)

“People often used candles and lanterns to light their homes after dark.” (word: lanterns)

“Homes, churches, barns, schools, and government buildings installed lightning rods on their rooftops.” (word: barns)

CHECK FOR UNDERSTANDING

Ask a student to name one specific noun from the reading and tell what it shows.

RAISE THE THINKING

Ask a student how one sentence would change if the author used a plain word instead.

TODAY'S THINKING JOB

NOTICE

"I can notice a specific noun."

EXACT TEKS WORDING

"revise drafts to improve sentence structure and word choice by adding, deleting, combining, and rearranging ideas for coherence and clarity"

Notice the specific noun.

Read this sentence from the passage. Find the specific noun the author chose.

"After studying the issue, Franklin invented the lightning rod."

I CAN I can notice the specific noun an author chooses.

CHECK FOR UNDERSTANDING

Ask a student to explain the answer in their own words and point to the word in the sentence.

COMMON MISCONCEPTION

Students may pick any noun. A specific noun names exactly who or what, not a general word like stuff or people.

POSSIBLE STUDENT QUESTION

Is a longer word always better? No. The best word is the one that says exactly what the writer means in this sentence.

RPLD EVIDENCE & ADVICE

NOTICE at Foundational is about recognizing a specific noun. Keep the demand at this level.

RAISE THE THINKING

Ask a student to name a weaker word the author could have used, and what would be lost.

CHECK FOR UNDERSTANDING

Students can explain what the word shows, not only name it.

COMMON MISCONCEPTION

Naming a word without explaining it. Ask how and why for at least two answers.

POSSIBLE STUDENT QUESTION

Why not use the simple word? Because the exact word gives the reader a clearer picture or feeling.

RPLD EVIDENCE & ADVICE

Reviewing is where OWN turns into DEFEND. Push for reasons.

RAISE THE THINKING

Ask how the author's words connect to the mood or message of the whole passage.

READ THIS PASSAGE EXCERPT.

The rod is connected to a wire that runs down the side of the building and into the ground. When lightning strikes the rod, the electricity follows the metal path safely into the ground instead of passing through the building.

Why does the author use the word ‘wire’ instead of a general word like part?

- A It names the exact part that carries electricity down.
- B It shows that the lightning rod was expensive to build.
- C It tells the reader the building was made of metal.
- D It proves Franklin was the first person to use metal.

The answer is A.

- A It names the exact part that carries electricity down.
Correct. Wire names the specific piece connecting the rod to the ground.
- B It shows that the lightning rod was expensive to build.
Wire names a material, not a price. The passage does not discuss cost.
- C It tells the reader the building was made of metal.
The wire runs along the outside of the building. It does not mean the building itself is made of metal.
- D It proves Franklin was the first person to use metal.
The passage does not say Franklin was the first to use metal. It says he used metal in his invention.
